Government Clamps On New Order To Help Conserve Gasoline Supply

Minimum Storage Set

Tuesday Labor Talk May Break Deadlock

DENVER, May 10.—A government order reserving supplies of motor gasoline to maintain essential transportation went into effect Saturday in 32 states and the District of Columbia.

The order, issued by the Petroleum Administration for Defense, concerns operators of bulk gasoline plants, terminals and large filling stations.

About one-half of all service stations in the area, stretching from the Atlantic Seaboard to Kansas and Oklahoma, will be involved, PAD estimated.

That was the latest step resulting from the 11-day-old strike of refinery and pipeline workers in the oil industry.

Previously, steps had been taken to cut down on use of high-octane aviation gasoline in commercial, private and military fields.

MEANWHILE, an extension of the nationwide strike to California was cancelled early today by CIO oilworkers.

In San Francisco, the union's international representative, James Thornberry, said a strike at the Shell Chemical Corp. plant in Pittsburg was called off at the request of union headquarters in Denver.

The new PAD order, which went into effect at 8:01 a. m. Saturday, holds that supplies may not drop below 300 barrels of motor fuel or a quantity equal to five per cent of total storage capacity, whichever amount is smaller.

The 3,000-barrel inventory requirement for bulk plant and terminal operators is equivalent to 126,000 gallons, on the basis of 42 gallons to the barrel.

While supplies of automobile fuel are dwindling in some cities and voluntary rationing has been resorted to in a few areas, the nation is not expected to feel a major shortage of gasoline for at least a month.

PAD officials said they do not expect the average motorist to feel any immediate effect of the latest order. Filling stations generally maintain stocks well in excess of five per cent of their storage capacity.

SHORTAGES seem most likely in eastern and central states because of difficulties in transporting products to the point of need.

O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International, which heads the coalition of 22 CIO, AFL and independent unions on strike, said strikers won't return to work without a settlement.

Hopes now ride on a meeting Tuesday in Washington, D. C., between the Wage Stabilization Board and representatives of management and the unions.

The unions have been asking a 25-cent hourly wage hike and increased night shift differentials. Knight said settlement might be possible at 18½ cents. The average wage now is from $2 to $2.10 per hour.

Man Dies As Gas Truck Hits Car

FREMONT, May 10.—A truck hauling gasoline burst into flames Saturday in a collision with an automobile, burning the car driver to death.

Duane Crow, 22 of Fostoria, died before firemen could drag his body from the car. The truck driver, Ross W. Richardson, 26, of Sykesville, Md., was taken to a hospital with severe burns over most of his face and body. The two vehicles collided at the intersection of Route 199 and U. S. Route 20, about 12 miles west of Fremont.

15 New Polio Cases Reported

COLUMBUS, May 10.—The State Health Department says it has received reports of 15 new cases of polio in 10 counties since the first of the year.

This compared to 13 new cases on the same date last year and 31 in 1950, a peak polio year in Ohio. New cases this year occurred in Allen, Clark, Franklin, Hamilton, Henry, Holmes, Montgomery, Butler, Lucas and Wayne counties.

After Raising Major Ruckus About Steel, Congress Quiet

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Congressional resentment over government handling of the steel wage-price crisis still simmers but there is no indication that lawmakers planned to do anything about it.

On the steel front itself, industry, government, and the CIO steelworkers union were to file briefs with the Supreme Court in connection with arguments before the court on legality of President Truman's seizure of the steel industry. Arguments are scheduled for Monday.

Two House committees looking into the steel matter recessed their investigations Friday on an inconclusive note.

The House Armed Services Committee left the fate of an anti-strike receivership bill up in the air, with Rep. Kilday of Texas, a senior Democratic member, accusing the Truman administration of staging a "sitdown" strike against the bill by declining to furnish witnesses from the Labor and Justice Departments.

U.S. Governors Shun National Primary Poll

WASHINGTON, May 10.—A majority of the nation's governors have advised the Senate they do not believe a voluntary nationwide presidential primary bill sponsored by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) should be made effective this year.

Several of the state chief executives revealed strong interest in the idea of letting voters throughout the country express their opinions on whom the major parties should nominate for President.

But about 25 of the 40 who answered a congressional poll said they either were opposed to federal meddling in the election machinery, or believed the Douglas bill for various reasons would be impractical this year.

The poll was made by the Senate Rules Committee which has been considering the measure. It has not yet acted on it.

Douglas said in introducing the bill that he hoped it could go into effect in time to guide the July, 1952, Republican and Democratic National Conventions.

It is designed to encourage all states to hold presidential primaries before July 1 in a national election year. The state election machinery would be used but the federal government would pay up to 20 cents a vote on the cost.

She'll Get To Tell It To The Marines

TOLEDO, May 10.—Pretty Doris Reffitt, 23, had no trouble getting into the Marines. Now she wants to know why there's so much fuss about her quitting.

Police picked her up Friday on a warrant charging her with deserting from the Marine base at Camp Lejeune, N. C. She said she joined to spite her boy friend after they had a quarrel, but now that they have made up she wants out quick.

4 States Naming Party Delegates

Fresh Talk Heard On Hot Topics Such As Foreign Aid And FEPC

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Four states were to name presidential-nominating delegates Saturday amid fresh talk about such topics like foreign aid spending and civil rights.

A total of 62 Democratic and 16 Republican delegates to national conventions in Chicago in July will be chosen at conventions in Nevada, Michigan, Utah and Virginia.

In Nevada state conventions, Republicans at Tonopah pick 12 delegates and Democrats at Wells select a 10-vote delegation. A Democratic convention at Grand Rapids puts together Michigan's 40-vote delegation. Two Virginia district meetings name four more of the state's 23 GOP delegates, six of whom already are chosen. Utah Democrats convening at Salt Lake City name 12.

TWO SOUTHERN Democrats voiced their views on foreign aid spending—an issue which drew clashing opinions from the top contenders for Republican nomination as President.

Sens. Allen Ellender of Louisiana and Walter George of Georgia sided with Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and against Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Eisenhower, Allied defense chief in Europe until about June 1, had said any cut deeper than $1 billion in the proposed $7.9 billion foreign aid fund would imperil the nation's security. Taft flatly disagreed, say-

Kefauver Says Dems Liable For Cleanup

SALT LAKE CITY, May 10.—Sen. Estes Kefauver said here Saturday that the Democrats are the ones to clean crime and corruption out of government.

"The Republicans talk a lot about crime and corruption," the Tennessee Democrat said, "but you'll notice they are not the ones who are exposing and breaking the links between criminal elements and some men in politics."

In an address keynoting the state convention of Utah Democrats, the ex-crime probe said corruption in government the high cost of living and, above all, peace, are the major specific issues in which he has found voters interested in his cross country campaigning.

Kefauver, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is seeking the 12 Utah national convention delegates being chosen here Saturday.

Eventual Defeat Is Predicted For Tricky Fair Trade Bill

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Eventual defeat is being predicted for a House-passed fair trade bill which, opponents claim, would cause widespread price increases and extort billions annually from American consumers.

The bill, passed Thursday by a 196 to 108 standing vote in the House, may never reach President Truman, for the Senate Commerce Committee has indicated disfavor.

Those against the measure are fearful it may be added in the Senate to a major appropriation bill, thereby circumventing the commerce committee and making it more difficult for the President to veto.

In effect, the bill gives federal sanction to the Fair Trade laws of 45 states which permit price fixing on popular brand-name articles.

Chairman Celler (D-NY) of the House Judiciary Committee, who led the House opposition, said the bill "certainly will be vetoed" if it reaches the President.

IF IT BECOMES law, Celler added, it is probable that agreements ing a reduction twice that much would not hurt.

The Southern Democrats said: Ellender—"I think most people will like Taft's position better than Eisenhower's."

George, who expects to stick with the proposed $1 billion cut—"I don't think that a $2 billion reduction would do any damage at all."

In New York Friday, discussions of the Democratic nomination campaign touched on civil rights, the explosive issue which fanned a Southern revolt at the party's 1948 convention.

Bookie King's Kin Attacked

'Warning' Is Given Against Testimony

NEW YORK, May 10.—Two men beat up the younger brother of bookie Harry Gross Friday night as a warning to the gambler to halt his testimony about paying graft to New York policemen.

A city official said the men set upon Jackie Gross, 24, in Manhattan, and told him to take it as "a warning to your brother." He was not hurt seriously. A police guard was given him immediately.

The older Gross shocked a police department trial this week by declaring he had paid cash to the three highest police department officials, since retired, to protect his $20 million a year bookmaking racket.

He also named more than 100 lesser policemen as being on his payroll and said he had access to police department records.

THE OLDER Gross is testifying at the departmental trial of five police officers in an effort to get a reduction of a 12-year prison sentence for bookmaking.

He wrecked an earlier trial by suddenly refusing to testify after taking the witness stand. But after spending some time in prison he offered to talk in a bid for freedom.

Gross testified Friday he had named the three high officials previously in testimony before a grand jury and expressed wonder they had not been indicted.

He asked whether favoritism was being shown.

This drew an angry retort from the Brooklyn prosecutor who broke up Gross' bookmaking empire that the mere naming of a man by Gross without corroborating evidence was insufficient to indict.

Another Bumper Wheat Crop Expected By Agriculture Aides

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Crop production prospects have brightened during the last three weeks to raise government hopes that this year's harvest of food crops may set a record after all.

A month ago prospects were not good because unfavorable weather had retarded spring planting.

But a new crop survey made by the Agriculture Department Friday said conditions have improved greatly and crops are now normal or advanced in most areas of the country.

A wheat crop which may be the second or third largest of record was said to be indicated. The winter wheat portion of the crop was forecast at 986 million bushels. An average spring wheat crop would give a total combined crop of about 1,293,000,000 bushels. Only in 1947 and 1948 were larger wheat crops harvested.

BUT THERE is a possibility the spring wheat crop may be considerably larger than normal. In that event, it would be possible for total wheat production to exceed the second largest, 1,313,000,000 produced in 1948.

By comparison, total wheat production last year was only 987 million bushels. The government had set a 1952 goal of 1,165,000,000.

The Agriculture Department predicted Ohio will harvest a winter wheat crop of 48,642,000 bushels this year.

The department said the indicated acreage was 2,211,000, with a yield per acre of 22 bushels.

The national forecast calls for a winter wheat crop of 986,468,000 bushels, third largest on record. This estimate compares with 645,469,000 last year and 799,977,000 for the 10-year 1941-50 average.

Everything Quiet In Gallia Mine

GALLIPOLIS, May 10.—Work is back to normal pace at the Ohio River Collieries, Inc., mine in Cheshire after attempts to unionize the mine's 80 employees started mild flare-ups of violence.

Gallia County Sheriff George Eban deputized mine employees, authorizing them to bear firearms, in an effort to stop disturbances.

Eban said many of the 180-odd pickets who appeared at the mine Thursday morning were armed and he feared bloodshed. Pickets reportedly were union employees of the Central Coal Co., Graham Station; W. Va., site of a huge power plant that gets coal from Ohio collieries.

Allies, Commies In Artillery Duel

SEOUL, May 10.—An artillery supported Allied tank-infantry patrol smashed into Communist lines and fought an all-day battle Friday with 1,000 Chinese on the Korean western front.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the patrol pulled back at night after the heavy engagement northeast of the Panmunjom truce site.

The Fifth Air Force in a weekly summary said Allied planes shot down 13 Communist aircraft, probably destroyed one and damaged five. The Air Force said it lost 10 planes—one in an aerial fight and nine to Red ground fire.

Diehard Koreans Due To Get Telephone And Writing Paper

SEOUL, May 10.—The U. S. Eighth Army announced Saturday night that Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd has been released—in good health and good spirits—by Communist prisoners of war on Kojima Island.

Dodd, then commander of prisoners on the island, was seized by Red prisoners Wednesday as he conferred with them at the gate of Compound 76.

An Eighth Army statement said the general's release came after a meeting of Communist ringleaders of the compound. It was attended by prisoner leaders from other compounds on the island.

The conclave of Communist POW leaders came after Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander, made it clear he was preparing to use force if the general were not released unharmed.

The terms worked out at the conference of Reds were not immediately disclosed.

AN ARMY spokesman said Dodd would be flown to Seoul Sunday and would hold a news conference. Dodd is now with Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, who was appointed commander of the Kojima camps the day after Dodd was seized.

Dodd was snatched Wednesday afternoon and dragged inside Compound 76, where 6,000 North Korean die-hard Communists are held. He and another officer, Lt. Col. Robert Raven of Newton, Tex., were standing by the wide, main gate of the compound, talking with leaders of the prisoners.

The pair evidently had been lured there by Communist leaders for a conference.

Suddenly the Red POWs grabbed Dodd and hustled him inside the compound. Raven managed to fight his way from the arms of the Reds and escape.

For three days, the Reds held Dodd prisoner, meanwhile negotiating with him for settlement of the prisoner's grievances.

American meals were passed in to the 52-year-old general and he was allowed free use of the telephone inside the compound. Over this telephone he asked camp authorities to refrain from using force to get him out until the Red leaders had completed a list of their demands.

SATURDAY morning the Army said they had granted some of the Red demands—"minor requests" which included use of a telephone, writing paper and the admittance of prisoner leaders from other compounds on the island. Approximately 80,000 Reds are held on the island—most of them are among the 70,000 prisoners who have said they will return to Communism.

While the Reds held Dodd captive, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, on the eve of his departure for Europe, issued a stinging blast at the kidnapping. He ordered Eighth Army Commander James A. Van Fleet to use "whatever force is necessary" to get Dodd out.

The Red propaganda mills seized immediately on the incident and Ridgway's order. North Korean General Nam Il, at the Panmunjom truce talks, charged the UN was preparing "another massacre" on the island.

Ridgway said the Dodd kidnapping "may very well affect the Korean truce talks."

Meanwhile, in Panmunjom, only one minute of the 12-minute armistice talks session Saturday was devoted to the subject of peace.

No progress was reported, but another meeting was scheduled for Sunday at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Saturday EST). The talks are tightly docketed over the issue of prisoner repatriation.

The other 11 minutes of Saturday's session were devoted to a Red accusation the Allies planned to "massacre" Red prisoners on Kojima Island to rescue Dodd. That, of course, was before the general's release unharmed.

Senate Committee OKs McGranery

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Senate Judiciary Committee Friday approved the nomination of Federal Judge James P. McGranery of Philadelphia to be attorney general. The vote was 8 to 4.

McGranery was nominated by President Truman last month to succeed J. Howard McGrath in the cabinet post.

Tighter Law On Livestock Feed Ahead

Ag Agency Seeks To Curb Future Anthrax Outbreaks

WASHINGTON, May 10—(P)—The Agriculture Department, seeking to curb the spread of anthrax, plans to tighten its rules on importing of bone meal.

Dr. B. T. Simms, chief of the department's Bureau of Animal Industry, told a House Agriculture Subcommittee not to expect too much, however, from the stiffer regulations he said will be issued by June 1.

"They won't solve the problem," he said. "We'll continue to have anthrax."

He said the dread disease, which strikes humans as well as animals, can spread from anthrax organisms in dead animals.

Strict controls on disposal of dead stock, he added, would cost too much and would be almost impossible to enforce.

Rep. Harvey (R-Ind) praised the bureau's work in controlling recent outbreaks of anthrax in the Midwest. He said they were traced to fertilizer containing raw bone meal from Argentina which had been processed in France.

SIMMS SAID foreign shippers now are required to subject bone meal to 156 degrees heat. But although this is enough to destroy hoof-and-mouth disease germs, he said it is not enough to kill anthrax organisms.

Rep. Miller (R-Neb) urged that the bureau require all imported bone meal to be treated at 256 degrees. This would kill the anthrax organisms, he said.

Simms said the bureau does not want to impose such a blanket rule. Much of the imported bone meal, he said, is processed into charcoal used by the sugar industry, for gelatin, and for other non-agricultural purposes.

He said the bureau is trying to write a regulation that will protect the livestock industry, and at the same time "not interfere unduly with commerce."

Ray Cook Is Hurt In Crash

Ray Eugene Cook, 26, of Circleville Route 1, suffered minor injuries early Saturday when his auto went out of control on East Ohio street, clipped off a telephone pole and rolled over.

The crash happened at about 5:50 a. m. Saturday near the General Electric plant on East Ohio street.

Officer Leroy Hawks said the Cook auto left the street 225 feet from the point where it crashed into the power pole. Along the route, the auto knocked down signs, Hawks said, and two fenceposts. Cook's auto was completely demolished in the crash. He was treated in Berger hospital for cuts of the forehead and nose.

A 43-year-old Michigan motorist was injured at about 11:35 p. m. Friday in a two-car crash on Route 25, about three miles north of Circleville.

He was Ollie Conley of Chelsea, Mich., who suffered face cuts and bruised ribs when his auto was in collision with an oncoming auto.

The Conley auto was in collision with an auto operated by Paul Raymond Cuellar, 38, of Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Deputy John White said the Cuellar auto was travelling north and the Conley car was headed south. Conley said the approaching auto served to the left into the path of his car and Conley attempted to avoid collision by also swerving to the left.

Cuellar told the deputy he swerved to the left when he came upon an auto without taillights, stopped in his lane of traffic. Neither Cuellar nor two passengers in the Conley auto were injured.

Florida told a luncheon gathering his state's close primary last Tuesday indicates the South is growing more liberal on racial questions.

THE PRIMARY was won by Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia by a slim margin over Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Pepper said Kefauver, whom he backed, campaigned openly for a voluntary Fair Employment Practices Commission which would prohibit job discrimination against Negroes and other minorities. He said Russell is "not an intolerant man," but had the racial question forced on him by Florida supporters.

Russell said he would like to see a national plebiscite on FEPC. He added: "I don't think the people would adopt it at all."

Eisenhower and Taft, meanwhile, were talking about campaigns.

The general, on a farewell visit to Oslo, Norway, repeated his intention to make no campaign. In New York, Taft said his pre-convention drive is about completed except for a few days in South Dakota and Indiana.

Eisenhower told reporters, "if the people want me for President, they will know where to find me."

Taft said he expects to have the support of half of the 1206 delegates—nomination requires a simple majority of 604—when the convention opens in Chicago.

Oregon newsmen, surveyed by the Associated Press on the state's May 16 presidential primary, said they believe Eisenhower and Kefauver will win. The 18 Republican delegates are not bound by results of the primary, but the 12 Democratic delegates are.

The statewide survey added up to an indicated vote of 61 per cent for Eisenhower on the Republican side and 71.6 per cent for Kefauver among Democrats.

Lake Logan Dam Repair Said Sighted

COLUMBUS, May 9 — (P)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche said Friday afternoon engineering estimates on the cost of rebuilding Lake Logan dam in Hocking County are due next week.

He told representatives of the county's Izaak Walton League that construction work will be pressed after the engineers report.

Natural Resources Director A. W. Marion said the reports are expected by Thursday.

John Owens, league president, and Dr. C. F. Rauch, a past president, conferred with the governor and state officials in Columbus about slow progress of the lake project.

F. O. Kugel, department engineer, and head of the shore erosion division; V. W. Flickinger, head of the parks division, and Marion said everything possible is being done to speed the work.

A $71,000 dam was begun in 1948. It was designed to create a 400-acre lake. But it was cut during high water in 1950. The last legislature appropriated $150,000 to rebuild it but Kugel said that may not be enough.

Marion said he expected the wildlife council to make up any deficit. Court litigation delayed acquisition of land for the lake southwest of Logan.

'Our Mothers' Theme Planned For Services In First EUB

Worship service in First Evangelical United Brethren church Sunday will be built around the theme, "Our Mothers."

Miss Lucille Kirkwood, organist, will open the service with a prelude, "Song Without Words—Sweet Remembrance." The church choir, under the direction of Montford Kirkwood Jr., is to sing a processional hymn, "The Church's One Foundation, Is Jesus Christ, Her Lord."

Church School Superintendent Edwin Richardson will assist by presiding at opening exercise, which includes call to worship, invocation, reaffirmation of faith.

Morning prayer will be offered by a mother, Mrs. Paul Dawson and the congregation will sing "Faith of Our Mothers."

Church choir will sing an anthem, "For My Mother." Miss Kirkwood's offertory is "Songs My Mother Taught Me."

"Tribute to Mother" from a scriptural directive in Proverbs 31:28 is the sermon theme to be presented by the Rev. Carl L. Wilson.

Of this thought, the Rev. Mr. Wilson says: "The literature of all ages has paid tribute to mother, and the chronicles of all nations acknowledge their debt to her. The sacred word of God is full of the highest homage to mothers. 'The Lord could not be everywhere, so He made mothers,' said a Jewish rabbi. 'Mother in Israel' has become a term of highest regard."

"The fifth commandment, and the first with promise, says, 'Honor thy mother.' In the New Testament we find the culmination of the exaltation of motherhood in the life of Mary, the mother of Jesus. From the time that the angel announced to her, 'Blessed art thou among women,' until the day that Jesus said from the cross to his beloved mother, 'Behold thy mother,' she was ever the highest type of motherhood."

are to be hosts for Harper Bible Class meeting in First Evangelical United Brethren church service Center at 8 p. m. Friday.

Youngest mother will be recognized by Harper Bible Class, while Loyal Daughter Class will honor the eldest mother. Identity of the "Most Representative Church Mother," selected by the youth department in secret ballot, will be revealed at the close of unified worship and will receive the "Pastor and Wife" award.

Annual Mother-Daughter party of Calvary EUB church, sponsored by the Trailmaker's class, will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Differences In Churches Told In Study

Reasons For Joining Certain Sect May Vary, Report Says

NEW YORK, May 10.—Why do you belong to a certain church? It may be, say authorities on the subject, because of your financial position, the section of the country you live in, the hymns your parents sang, or it might be just habit or denominational pride.

In a report of a special study of the question, the Commission on Faith and Order of the World Council of Churches cited these and other "non-theological" reasons for divisions in church affiliation:

1. Geographical factors. If a certain church is handy in your part of town, or predominates in your region of the country, that may be why you belong to it. Geographical separations also have led to development of regional customs within a church, and caused breaks.

2. Social, economic and political factors. People tend to join a church whose members have a similar position in these respects to themselves.

3. When certain groups have found themselves unwelcome in a denomination because of race, national origin or language, they often have formed separate churches to avoid discrimination.

4. Ambitions or rivalries of prominent church leaders have caused divisions. Sometimes "reformers" or "enthusiasts," whose methods were opposed in one church, set up other congregations.

5. Denominational sentiment and loyalty, not connected with any theological differences, keeps some church groups apart.

6. Dislike of unfamiliar habits of kneeling, standing in worship, clerical dress, extemporaneous or set prayers, hymnbooks or buildings or other customs reinforce old divisions.

7. The "dead weight of an administration which tends to be all-absorbing and to perpetuate itself" can maintain denominational cleavages.

The report also cited various historical reasons for separation, including the demands for freedom of religious expression by Christians confronted with persecution or compulsion by church or state.

WHILE MANY church divisions arose originally from differences in belief, the report said, these differences in many cases have disappeared, but the divisions are often perpetuated by non-religious factors.

"Christians, like all others, often act both individually and collectively under unconscious motives," the report said. "The tendency of human nature is to rationalize decisions which are taken on quite different grounds."

"Within the church, that means offering theological justification for divisions which in fact have been caused, at least in part, by quite other factors."

Family Strength Theme Planned For Methodists

"The Strength of the Family" is the sermon topic to be presented Sunday by the Rev. Robert Weaver in worship services in First Methodist church.

The sermon theme will center around Family Week, in that strength of the family is the love and affection each member has for the other.

Special organ selections to be played for the Mother's Day service by Mrs. Ervin Leist will be "Cavatina," "Adagio" and "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind."

Senior choir, directed by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will present "Heavenly Father, Hear Our Prayer" with solos by Mrs. Vaden Couch and George Roth.

Calvary EUB Is To Observe Mother's Day

Mother's Day will be observed in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church during worship service Sunday.

Opening of worship service is to be directed by the Dorcas Pathfinder Class of the Sunday school, under the direction of president Mrs. Harry Hosler. Special features of the morning will include a vocal duet by June and Wilma Wilkinson; a trombone solo, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dale DeLong; and a Mother's Day poem. Individual gifts will be given to each mother present, and a gift of recognition will be given to the oldest and the youngest mother present.

For his message of the morning, the Rev. James A. Herbst will speak on "The Home, The Main Teacher of Religion." This is not only in recognition of the Mother's Day observance, but the climax of National Christian Family Week.

Sunday school classes will meet for study following the morning worship and will be under the direction of the Sunday School Superintendent Dale DeLong. The lesson to be studied is "The Right Use Of Sunday."

An evening service will be held in the church at 7:30 p. m. This will be a service in which the family and its Christian relationships will be emphasized. A sound film strip entitled "The Christian Family" will be shown as an instructional and thought provoking message for the evening.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

Some children who don't get on well with other children of their own age excel at books. Their very excellence at books can cause them to be less interested in normal fun at play.

On the other hand, a child's failure to have normal fun at play with other children can cause him to do less well at books. More and more clinical evidence is being disclosed, indicating that how self-respecting and how secure a child feels in his family and among other persons of his own age, can have a great deal to do with how well he learns to read, spell or cipher.

A mother raises a question about this matter in the following letter: "Dear Dr. Myers: Should parents choose their children playmates? We have a daughter, 5, and a son, 7½. There are no other children over 5 in the immediate neighborhood. Less than a block away are some boys in Bill's class who will play with him, even come to get him to play. After a few minutes with them he's home playing house or farm with the younger ones."

He says the others fight or don't want to play what he wants to. Obviously, the younger ones do. When it's time to go to school he has to go alone.

"His school work isn't as good as I know it could be. In fact,

Motherhood Theme Due For Lutheran Rites

"Blessed Gift Of Motherhood" is the sermon theme for services Sunday in Trinity Lutheran church. Text is from Paul's Second Letter to Timothy, where Paul praises Lois and Eunice for their faith, and for their work in helping Timothy to come to Christianity.

The Rev. George Troutman says: "The praises of Motherhood have been the subject of countless sermons and lectures. It is an undeniable fact that it's the mothers that have the greatest role in the growth of children."

"When the mother is a follower of Christ, she sets a pattern for the children that will be seen in all their dealings with other people. Some of the greatest men in history have been unhesitating in giving credit to their mothers for their greatness."

"Christ, Himself, was undoubtedly greatly influenced by His mother, and learned much at her knee. Timothy and later Augustine were led into the faith through the untiring efforts of Christian mothers. Abe Lincoln's praises of his mother are often quoted, as are those of many other able leaders."

"Motherhood didn't fully come into its own until Christianity became a major influence in the world. Prior to that, women were regarded as inferior beings, with few or no feelings. So, Christianity has served to greatly enhance the prestige of motherhood, and mothers have been active in spreading the faith of Christ in the world."

Senior Choir will lead in the singing of the hymns, "While Yet The Morn Is Breaking," "Blessed Gift Of Motherhood," "O Blest Be The House Whate'er Befalls" and "I Know Whom I Believe In." The choir will also offer special music.

Mother's Day Rites Planned For Nazarenes

"Parental Influence" will be the sermon theme presented Sunday during worship services in church of the Nazarene.

Special honors will be awarded during the service to the eldest mother, youngest mother, mother with youngest child and mother having the most children present.

In addition, a mothers' choir will sing during the Sunday school hour. Lesson topic for the Sunday school will be "Sabbath Observance."

Young people of the church will meet at 6:45 p. m., while an evangelistic service will be held at 7:30 p. m. featuring the Rev. W. F. Jacobs of Mt. Sterling.

Worship Rites Are Announced

Members of Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's church will receive communion as a group at 8 a. m. Mass Sunday.

May devotions will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Regular meeting of the Holy Name society will be held Wednesday evening in the recreation center, following May devotions. Arrangements for the parish picnic will be made. June 1 is the date set for this affair, which will be held in Camp St. Joseph, near Lockbourne.

The Right Use of Sunday

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Exodus 20:8-11; Mark 2:23-3:6. Luke 4:16; 13:10-17.

On a sabbath day Jesus and His disciples walked through a wheat field, and the disciples plucked and ate kernels of wheat. The Pharisees said it was unlawful to do this on the sabbath, but Christ said, "The sabbath was made for man, not man for the sabbath."

Entering the synagogue on a sabbath day, Jesus saw a man who had a withered hand. Christ asked the Pharisees if it was lawful to do a good deed on the sabbath? He healed the man's hand. The Pharisees were angry and plotted to destroy Him.

As the Lord was teaching in the synagogue on a sabbath, He saw a woman who was so crippled that she could not stand upright. Jesus called her to Him and healed her, so that she was able to stand up straight, and she glorified God.

The ruler of the synagogue was indignant that Jesus would heal on the sabbath day. Jesus called him a hypocrite, said he would loose his ox and take him to water on that day, but objected to the healing of a suffering woman. MEMORY VERSE—Exodus 20:8.

HIGH COST OF NEWS

ENJOYING the most complete news service in history it is doubtful if the American people have an adequate conception of the vast organizations which bring information from the far corners of the world to keep this service universal and comprehensive.

The American citizen is kept in touch with great world events, often being informed of all details in a matter of hours. Naturally the cost of this service is tremendous.

The interesting story of the adventures of Skipper Carlsen of the ill-fated Flying Enterprise was an example of American news enterprise. It was the saga of man against the sea.

For two action-packed weeks the story developed to attract worldwide attention. It was a disaster with a plot which unfolded hourly. Dozens of reporters were on the scene, with orders to spare neither expense nor effort to keep a waiting world in touch with developments.

The story of the Flying Enterprise cost news agencies and the radio $1 million before a destroyer standing by announced the vessel had gone to its watery grave. It was a great story, and the millions who followed its unfolding will agree it was worth the cost in bringing it to the public.

FROZEN MEALS

SEVERAL LARGE railroads, convinced the cost of meals on diners is too high—although served at a loss to the companies—have decided to do something about it.

Rail lines in recent years have attempted to hold down prices of meals by absorbing 38 cents for every dollar of actual costs. This has resulted in large deficits in dining car service.

Frozen foods are to be the basis for lower meal prices. Complete menus, from soup to dessert, are to be prepared in company kitchens, frozen and ready to serve after thawing and heating.

Stainless steel table service, instead of expensive silver, paper napkins and table covers instead of snowy linen, which must be changed for every diner, are now in use on many lines.

The result has been to make available substantial meals at approximately one-half the former cost.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Sooner or later, it will have to come out that in spite of the expenditures of billions of dollars, our policy in Western Europe has failed in its essential objective, which is the ultimate defeat of Soviet Russia by diplomacy, psychology or war. Further, that although the American taxpayer has spent tens of billions of dollars on defense since 1945, our Army and Air Force are inferior to those of Soviet Russia. Secretary of Defense Lovett confirms that, but only to frighten Congress into giving him more money.

Thus far, NATO has not produced anything like the army which General Eisenhower envisaged when he asked Congress to give him four divisions. At Lisbon, NATO was reorganized, with an Englishman, Lord Ismay, at its head. The explanation that it is not Eisenhower's plan that we meet Russia man for man, plane for plane, as General Alfred Gruenther has been saying in his speeches in this country, can only be accepted as a recession toward the position of Herbert Hoover, who has opposed the widespread use of American ground troops in Europe.

NATO's initial task is to produce a European army. That has not been accomplished. Those who speak of NATO's success have little point to make, except that a European war did not happen in 1951 nor is there immediate prospect of war in 1952.

For this, NATO cannot take credit, as Russia could today take the initiative in a fighting war, if Stalin wanted to do that, with little fear of effective resistance on the continent of Europe. The reason that war has not come is that the Russians are convinced that they are successful in Asia, which is important to them, and that they are damaging the economy of the United States without firing a shot or losing a man.

The so-called Russian "peace" campaign is based on the assumption that if the United States is forced to spend huge sums on rearming itself and all the non-Soviet countries, the burden will be too great to carry and the American economy will collapse.

Meanwhile, they are building an East-West trade designed not only to supply them but to embarrass us. A phase of this embarrassment is the conflict between the United States and Great Britain over the economic future of Japan, a conflict which can force Japan into the arms of Soviet Russia.

Trade will flow wherever it can without regard to political issues. Even in time of war, trade tries to move where it has no business to go, often through neutral countries. It is like the matter of Polish hams, which have found their way into the American market in spite of the fact that the sale of Polish commodities provides Poland with American dollars, which, in Europe, are of political as well as economic value.

A reader sent me a letter on this subject, written two years ago by Martha Deane, the radio commentator, in which Miss Deane quotes the Atlanta Products Corporation:

DIET AND HEALTH

New Ointment Protects Skin

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SOME of my readers may have heard about the useful new plastics and lubricants made of silicone. Now we learn that this material has given amazing results in an ointment for diaper rash, chafing and many other skin irritations.

Severe skin rashes that defied other treatment have cleared up almost miraculously with this ointment. It is also being used for severe bed sores, and for a type of rash brought on by some of the body fluids, as when the bowels must be drained through the body wall.

Shields Sensitive Skin

The new ointment works by shielding the sensitive skin from clothing, or body secretions. Frequent applications thus help the skin heal by itself, and also protect any other healing medicines that may be used.

The material, known as silicone, adheres to the skin, but does not react chemically so as to injure it. It also keeps off moisture and does not melt or stiffen in the heat or cold. Another unusual feature is that it does not dissolve in ether, benzene, or alcohol, and is not easy to wash off with soap and water, even by scrubbing.

Not a Remedy in Itself

While not itself a remedy for skin disorders, it is being used along with the standard medicines because of the protective action it affords.

The method that has been used with the silicone is to apply a thin layer to the irritated skin every four to eight hours. The old coat is left on, and standard medicines are applied as needed.

I hope you do not have too much to test this discovery, but if you do, you will be saved a good deal of irritation and even agony from these very troublesome conditions of the skin.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. A., I am constantly blushing. What can I do about it?

Answer: Blushing is usually caused by some nervous instability. Due to excitement or nervousness, there is a nervous stimulus to the sympathetic nerves or nerves supplying the blood vessels to the face. This causes an increase in the circulation, producing blushing. There is no treatment which needs to be employed.

Henri said, "I never think of it." Antoinette was pleased, but she interrupted.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

THE MCDEVITTs took their time about replying to Leonie's letter and Henri fretted. His dissatisfaction was not lessened by two visits from Lincoln Calvert that week and a swimming expedition to the Isle of Palms.

"I don't want Leonie to see so much of that young man," was the mild way he expressed it to Antoinette. "I've tried to arrange a visit to Virginia with some friends of hers, but first they gave her the invitation and now they don't answer."

"A week isn't long," Antoinette said. "After all, they may have to prepare a bit before they can be sure of making her comfortable."

"Not in this case," Henri said. "These people have lots of money."

"Well, you just be patient," Antoinette said. "Of course, I've always thought he was a darling boy. Ever since he asked if Grandfather Fielding wore a cravat under his beard."

"I don't like the young man's principles. Borrowing money to get his start, for instance. And working as a waiter at college. And, my dear Antoinette, I don't approve of his family."

"Nevertheless," Antoinette insisted, "he's a fine young man and he's going to be a success. There aren't such a lot of nice young men in Charleston who would want to marry your niece—there, I said that badly, didn't I? I mean enough nice young men fit for little Leonie to marry. She hasn't been here to visit me yet, you know."

"Just forgetfulness," Henri said. "She is going to."

"As I was saying," Antoinette resumed, "I wish you would look favorably on this affair. I'm quite sure you don't want the child to remain single."

This was a touchy subject, and Henri deliberated before replying. "I'm not anxious to marry her off, Antoinette," he said. "She'll always be welcome at our house."

Antoinette reached over and put a small bony hand on his. "Henri," she said, "I hate to say this, but you and Leonie are set going to be around forever to take care of her. I'd think you'd want to see her provided for."

Henri did not particularly relish this intimation of mortality. "I'm feeling very well at present," he said drily.

"There are very few gentlemen," Antoinette said, "who look as young as you do at your age."

"And the same is true of you," Henri said. "In fact, I never think of it."

Antoinette was pleased, but she interrupted.

"Henri," she said, "all over Charleston there are people like you and me who waited too long."

"I did my best," Henri said, astonished that she should discuss the matter in such plain terms. He even wondered if Antoinette could be in full possession of her faculties. "Circumstances were against us," he said. "We belong to the wrong generation."

"But Leonie—" Antoinette said softly.

Henri held up his glass of sherry and squinted at it. "I would rather," he said finally, "have Leonie remain single all her life than contract a misalliance, which such a marriage would be from our point of view. I don't think it would make Leonie happy. We had better not discuss it."

Antoinette looked hurt. "I am no matchmaker, if that's what you mean," she said haughtily. "But I am fond of that young man. I think I am a good judge of character. What," she asked, "with a great air of the clever hostess changing the subject, 'do you think about the war?'"

"I don't think it will last long," Henri said. "It's my belief that it can't last more than six months, once the French and English war machine gets into operation. I was talking to Colonel Beecham just the other day and he confirmed me in that opinion."

"Other people feel differently," Antoinette said.

"Oh, you've been talking to Calvert," Henri said. "He's pro-German and he's sure, I suppose, that his side is going to win."

"Edmund insists on being the devil's advocate," Antoinette explained. "He told me once that the pursuit of truth was the only pleasure he had in life, but that it was so exclusive that it helped to make him happy."

"Oh, anybody can say smart things," Henri said. He did not like subtleties; a set of standards by which you could instantly tell truth from untruth was more to his taste. With difficulty, he refrained from the ungentelemanly gesture of sniffing at Colonel Calvert and all his works. "If a man hasn't found out the truth at his age," he said, "he's over the hill."

"I wasn't laughing," Henri said. "But he knew better."

After mass Sunday it was Henri's ill-fortune to run right into Miss Julie, and as he could not get away he offered to walk home with her.

"I suppose Leonie is still tramping around with that Calvert boy?" she said, as they were walking along Rutledge avenue beside the pond. "The water's very low," she added.

Henri regarded the water and admitted that it was low. "Leonie," he said, "is still keeping company with him. There's nothing I can do about it, I suppose. I'm her guardian, but she's of age and I have no money to threaten her with. I've been trying not to make matters worse by making a fuss. But, Cousin Julie, it goes against my grain. I don't like to see that child preparing misery for herself. Of course he'll never marry her. He went on hopefully. 'He'll keep up this friendship until his good looks attract some girl with money and then we'll be rid of him. But it won't be very good for Leonie that way, either.'"

The local ne'er-do-well beseeched his grocer for just one more item on credit: a sack of flour to feed his starving wife and babes. The grocer asked suspiciously, "How do I know that you're not up to your usual tricks, and will sell the flour so you can go see South Pacific when it opens here next week?" "You can trust me, Tom," pleaded the ne'er-do-well. "I had that thirty bucks stashed away long ago."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

the news

By Ray Tucker

Editor's Note—Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON, May 10 — The 38th parallel in Korea figures so explosively as the front trench in the undeclared war between the communistic and western worlds that scores of readers are curious as to why and how that line was chosen to be the dividing boundary between American and Russian rule.

"This is an important historical question," writes R. B. Dunlap of Shreveport, La., "because the mental approach of those responsible was to have an important bearing on our present involvement in Korea. The Cairo declaration in itself was not sufficient justification."

With many others, Mr. Dunlap seems to believe that radical elements in the State Department during the Alger Hiss days were influential in giving Moscow the foothold on the peninsula which lies behind the current hostilities.

MILITARY — The fact is, according to official records, that argument on the 38th parallel as a division point was a military rather than a diplomatic decision. When it was selected, it was the opinion of the Truman Administration that Stalin would respect his Cairo and Potsdam pledges to give Korea its freedom and independence "in due course." Here is the official story:

"When the offer of Japanese surrender came on August 10, 1945, it was necessary that prompt arrangements be made for the United States and its Allies to take the surrender of the Japanese forces in the Pacific and Asiatic theaters, including Korea."

Henry L. Stimson, then Secretary of War, submitted an order to James F. Byrnes, then Secretary of State, with regard to surrender arrangements. Known as General Order No. 1, it provided that Japanese forces north of the 38th parallel surrender to Soviet commanders, those south to the Americans.

EXPEDIENT — The State-War-Navy Coordinating Committee confirmed this agreement because, as the historical files say, "Soviet forces were already well into Manchuria and other Soviet forces were near the border between Korea and other Soviet maritime provinces."

"The first Soviet forces," continues the document, "entered Korea on August 12, at which time the nearest American forces available for movement into Korea were on Okinawa, 600 miles away, and in the Philippines, 1,500 to 2,000 miles away."

"In the light of these facts, the State-War-Navy Coordinating Committee, after review by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, accepted the 38th parallel as the dividing line for the acceptance of the surrender, since it would include the Korean capital of Seoul, with its ports and communications area."

"In addition, under the existing circumstances, the United States could not send forces to Korea in sufficient numbers and within a short enough time to receive the Japanese surrender any farther north. General Order No. 1 was then approved by General George C. Marshall, President and issued to General MacArthur on September 2, 1945." In other words, it was a matter of expediency.

DIVISION — "Had this division not been made," says the official memo in justification of our policy, "Soviet forces could have occupied the entire peninsula before the United States troops could have reached Korea."

"The establishment of the line at the 38th parallel held free for the people of Korea the southern half of the country with two-thirds of its population, saving them from Communist domination."

"It was never intended that the line established as a surrender convenience should give rise to a long-term division and occupation of Korea. This latter was a development which resulted from the persistent refusal of the U.S.S.R. to agree to the establishment of a unified and independent Korea upon any other basis than that of complete Communist domination of the entire state."

BLUNDER — The State Department's explanation, like many official statements, does not tell the full story. For one thing, the original blunder was made at Yalta, and subsequently confirmed by Truman at Potsdam, when Russia was given so many concessions for entering the war against Japan. There was then no need for Red reinforcement, as naval experts reported, only to be overruled by General George C. Marshall, Roosevelt and Truman.

Secondly, although two years of negotiations and United Nations deliberations showed that Russia planned to absorb Korea as a satellite, United States forces were withdrawn from the southern half of the peninsula in September, 1948.

INTEREST — "It was the judgment of the responsible military authorities," explains the official record, "that from the point of view of its own military security the United States had little strategic interest in maintaining troops in Korea." Meanwhile, there had been no real effort to train and equip a strong South Korean army, navy or air force.

Missing from the State Department's official record of our dealings with Korea is the fact that, in January of 1950, Secretary Acheson declared in an address at the National Press Club that Korea was not included within our defensive perimeter in the Far East. He based his remarks on the advice of military experts again. On June 25, 1950, the North Korean communists attacked.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Given By SOS Members

Blanche Lutz Is New President

Senior SOS of Circleville high school held their mother-daughter banquet, Thursday evening in the Masonic Temple. The banquet was served by members of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Ruth Hill, president, gave the welcome and Miss Elma Rains, advisor, presented awards to outstanding members of the group. Presentations went to Nancy Bower, Ruth Styers, and Janet Grant. Ann Downing and Doris Edgington received honorable mention.

Activities of the previous year were reported by Jacqueline Smith.

Blanche Lutz was introduced as the president for the coming year and other officers named were Joan Kerr, vice-president; Theresa Hill, corresponding secretary; Connie Bell, recording secretary and Mary Ellen Rader, treasurer.

A sextet composed of Margaret Ann Green, Addie Wertman, Janet Grant, Theresa Hill, Alice Weller, and Ann Downing sang two selections.

"Mildred Is My Name," a short play, was presented by Ruth Styers, Barbara Pontious, Nancy Goodchild and Nancy Bower.

Mrs. Alonzo Hill, mother of the retiring president, Ruth Hill, gave a short talk and the meeting was closed with group singing of, "I Would Be True."

Scioto Ladies Aid Holds Meeting

Mrs. Raymond Hott, Mrs. Earl Hott and Mrs. Milton Renick entertained 25 members and eight guests of the Scioto Chapel Ladies Aid Society, Thursday afternoon in the parish house.

Mrs. Elza Brooks, president, presided at the business meeting, which was opened with group singing, followed by scripture reading by the president and prayer by Mrs. J. D. Hopper.

Mrs. Harold Fee read the secretary's report and roll call and plans were made for a variety supper in June.

Group singing of, "My Mother's Bible," and prayer opened the program. A reading was given by Mrs. Hott.

Antiques brought by the members were displayed and discussed. Mrs. L. N. Mowery received a prize for the most outstanding antique.

Mrs. Brooks sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Richard Hudson, and a reading was given by Mrs. Robert Hott.

Nosegays were presented to Mrs. William Dewey as the oldest mother present, Mrs. Carroll Reid, as the youngest and Mrs. Roy Davis as the mother with the most living children. A reading, "Our Mother," by Mrs. Renick closed the program.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. During the June meeting Mrs. Jane Easter, Mrs. Ned Walker, Mrs. Robert Hott and Mrs. Mabel Walker will serve as hostesses.

Willing Worker

Alert—

Efficient household servant to run errands, order supplies, deliver messages to a large and growing list of people.

Other Duties—

Stand guard for an emergency. Be ready to summon doctor, police, fire department. Make it possible for many other people to keep in touch with you.

Fast—

Completely trustworthy and willing to serve twenty-four hours a day, 365 days a year. No vacations. No time off. Pay—less than a cent an hour.

Who Could This Wonder Worker Be?

Why, the telephone, of course. Night and day this alert, efficient servant is always ready to serve you. And the cost is small. Even though increases in telephone rates are still needed to catch up with past increases in costs, your telephone will continue to be a big bargain. Few things in all this world give you so much for so little as the telephone.

New York, of all places. One of them was Mike.

"I think he's retired now; I lost track of him, but I heard he was wounded in some skirmish in New York."

They rarely have "skirmishes" in Dublin. Last December some armed men stuck up the Provincial Bank on Thomas Street and shot a cashier. The three were captured and quickly got 14, 10 and 8 years. They still talk about that shooting affray—it was the first criminal gunplay in Dublin in 14 years.

Dublin cops don't carry guns. Most of their work centers about traffic problems and on Saturday nights helping those who have celebrated too much get back on their feet and home to bed. Only disorderly ones find themselves taken to prison and they usually get let off when they sleep it off. Four drunks a night per cop is the average.

Not that Dublin has no crime. There is house-breaking now and then.

Our policeman, as do most of the Dublin cops, came from the country. He said the Dublin young ones seek a more profitable field of work. An ordinary officer on duty 20 years earns $22.82 a week. A sergeant gets $27.02.

Court Orders Halt To Potato Price Boosts

COLUMBUS, May 10.—U. S. district court Friday ordered eight Columbus commission houses to stop charging over-ceiling prices for potatoes, which now are scarce.

The Office of Price Stabilization charged 151 instances of overcharges by the eight merchants, ranging from $27.94 to $1,111.66.

Martin F. Burnham, OPS district enforcement officer, said he planned no criminal action. He said civil action seeking damages will be filed later.

Harry A. Nation, executive secretary of the Columbus Retail Grocers Association, said that grocers could not purchase potatoes unless they paid money "under the table."

He said he didn't blame the

Sokolsky's

"... And we certainly cannot expect to retain or win the favor of friendly peoples in satellite nations under Russian domination, if we insist on treating them all as lepers, incapable of producing even a canned ham without Communism contamination."

Who are these friendly people? Poland is today as much a part of the Soviet empire as Russia or China or Czechoslovakia. That empire seeks our destruction and the flow of dollars in its direction is a peril to our stability.

Belatedly, the State Department has reduced the trade between the United States and Soviet countries and now has cut off travel, all of which is correct because it reduces the flow of dollars.

It is a definite phase of the Russian program to encourage the East-West trade, which supplies them with commodities they require and increases the flow of American dollars into Soviet countries. The economy of the Soviet empire is dominated by the Kremlin without regard to national barriers and is used to achieve political as well as economic ends.

It is the very same method that the Kremlin employed to encourage British trade in Soviet China in order to separate Great Britain from the United States politically.

NATO is too limited in scope and places too great a burden upon one country, the United States. Our policy must be related to our own economy if we are to survive this war of attrition.

wholesalers, however. He said they, too, had to pay from $300 to $500 a carload extra to get potatoes from suppliers.

Individual commission merchants said the potato shortage stems from an April 8 OPS order, which prohibits wholesalers from selling any type of potatoes to grocers and restaurant men. There are plenty of seed potatoes, they said, but their higher price keeps them from being sold to grocers at table potato ceilings.

City Sewage Plant To Observe 14th Birthday Thursday

Two Original Employees Are Still On Job

Plant First In Operation May 15, 1939

Circleville's city sewage plant will have its 14th birthday Thursday.

Of the original employees, two are still working. They are Charles H. Eitel and City Water Manager Ervin F. Leist.

Roy Hawks, present chief operator, was employed by the contractor finishing the project on the date the plant was put into operation. After completion he was employed by the city as the fourth operator, so in effect three men have had continuous service since the plant was opened May 15, 1939.

Our plant is unusual in that it is actually two plants in one.

By this is meant that one-half of the plant is designed to handle the industrial wastes of Container Corporation of America; and the other half is to handle combined wastes of all other industries and the domestic wastes of the city.

THE PLANT was designed by Floyd G. Browne and Associates, sanitary engineers, of Marion and was built by William Loomis and Son of Logan.

Total cost of the project, including Hargus Creek pumping station, was $173,696.28.

Of that total, $63,804.64 was granted by the federal government under WPA; $15,000 was contributed by Container Corporation of America (plus a 99-year lease to the site of the plant); and the remaining $94,891.94 was the city's share, which was raised by general obligation bond issues, $42,000 of which is still outstanding. The last bond of the issue is scheduled for retirement in 1964.

The plant was designed for primary treatment only and, as such, is capable of producing a top of approximately 40 percent reduction of the pollution load contained in domestic sewage.

For the wastes of Container Corporation, the best figure has been about 14 percent reduction.

With the recent adoption of an anti-pollution law, Circleville may soon be required to provide secondary treatment to further reduce the pollution load of the total sewage flow from the city and its industries.

The design capacity of the plant is one million gallons per day through each half of the plant. At no point in the treatment is the city and Container waste mixed, except in the outfall, or discharge, sewer from the plant into Scioto river.

COMPARATIVE volumes of flow through each half of the plant during the last two years, in average gallons per day, is as follows:

	1950	1951
City, industries	305,000	352,000
Container Corp.	401,000	602,000

Comparative volumes of sludge removed per day (average) for the years 1950 and 1951 were:

	1950	1951
City, industries	5,137	5,129
Container Corp.	31,627	27,020

All sludge produced by the city and miscellaneous industries is pumped into one or the other of two digestion tanks, where it is further reduced in volume by means of a fermentation process.

As a result of this process, a combustible gas is evolved, and the same is utilized for heating the operations building and the digestion tanks. (The latter are heated as a part of the fermentation process).

Sludge removed from the wastes of Container Corp. is pumped into a so-called sludge lagoon, located on land owned by the Corporation but leased to the city for such use.

Annual revenue from the sewer service ("rental") charges exceeds the cost of operation at the present time by about $1,000, but this excess of revenue is not sufficient to build up a surplus of any size to take care of unanticipated breakdowns of equipment or machinery.

Ohio Law is very specific in setting forth the manner in which any surplus from sewer service charges may be utilized.

For example such funds cannot be used to extend sewers into previously non-sewered areas.

Board of Public Utilities of Circleville has under its jurisdiction the water division and sewage division of the department of water and sewerage.

Sewage Division is made up of the sewage plant and the sewage pumping station.

SEWER SYSTEMS, both storm and sanitary, are under the jurisdiction of the director of public service, both for construction and maintenance of same.

Sewers beyond the corporate limits and in new real estate subdivisions are built at the expense of the people served or the real estate developer, whichever the case may be. In all such cases, the sewer and all appurtenances must be installed in accordance with city standards and subject to inspection during construction by an authorized representative of the service director.

The person, or persons constructing such a sewer are required to pay for the services of an inspector.

In new construction, or even in existing building connection, of downspouts or other storm water drains, to the sanitary sewer system is prohibited by law, and if violations are discovered at any time the offender will be required to change the condition without delay.

In Applying Fertilizer

NOW! Meter the Flow of Fertilizer EXACTLY—

APPLY YOUR FERTILIZER EFFICIENTLY
Investigate how the Ottawa Chief works and you'll settle for nothing less. Notice in diagram there are two, not one, positive feed augers. The lower auger makes the big difference. It controls the distribution because it precisely, automatically measures and forces pulverized fertilizer evenly through all distribution tubes. Rough ground or smooth, fast speeds or slow, the exact amount is always automatically applied. By merely interchanging special sprockets that drive the augers, you can positively set the rate of flow to meet application requirements.

Lockbourne AFB To Have 'Open House'

Pickaway Countians have been invited to attend a special "open house" program at Lockbourne Air Force Base next Saturday, Armed Forces Day.

The "open house" program will feature aerial demonstrations, outdoor exhibits and martial music from the Port Columbus Naval Reserve band.

Festive throngs of nearly 100,000 citizens are expected to view the ceremonies. Parking facilities are available for more than 10,000 cars.

Featured during the Armed Forces Day celebrations at Lockbourne Air Force Base will be a huge aircraft display. One of the most unusual aircraft to be exhibited is the McDonnell XF-85 "Parasite" plane.

The powerful jet fighter was designed to operate from the bomb-bay of long-range strategic bombers—to take-off and land while in mid-air. When bomber formations are attacked by enemy fighters, the "mother" aircraft release the Parasites to defend the bombers. After the enemy planes are repulsed, the tiny jets return to their airborne hangars, hooking onto a trapeze for retraction into the bomb bay.

IN ADDITION to the XF-85, there will be many types of aircraft on display which should be of interest to everyone. A few of the planes to be exhibited are the Sabrejet, Thunderjet, Mustang, B-45 Tornado, a Japanese Baka Suicide Aircraft and many others. Trained technicians will be on hand to answer questions.

Various other displays will include National Guard ground weapons, crash rescue equipment, air police, Red Cross mobile air station plus a host of other exhibits depicting the Armed Force scene.
